

Mansfield Autism Practitioner In Home Service

Mansfield Autism Practitioners (MAPs) deliver in home support for clients and their families following a diagnosis of autism.

MAPs work in the family home to provide intensive support for children and young people with autism. They work alongside parents and carers to increase confidence and model behaviour support strategies. This intervention is designed to be delivered over a six to twelve-month period. The Autism Practitioner can work outside of school hours to deliver support in the family home. A full scope of MAP practitioner support is 92 hours; however, shorter periods may be considered.
